Historic Photographs of Duxbury at the Library

Historic photographs of Duxbury houses along with contemporary photographs of architectural details will be featured at the Helen Bumpus Gallery throughout July and August. This exhibit, titled "Timeless Beauty," was organized by the Duxbury Rural and Historical Society. It demonstrates the various styles of architecture in the community and highlights individual features in a number of homes.

At a reception to be held at the Gallery on Saturday, August 4, from 2 to 4 p.m., Sally Redmond, chairwoman of the DR&HS Exhibit Committee, will provide further insight into specific elements of Duxbury architecture. Her talk will be accompanied by a slide presentation. Refreshments will be served and all are invited to attend.

The Helen Bumpus Gallery is located on the main level of the Duxbury Free Library. The exhibit may be viewed during regular library hours. For information call 781-934-2721.
